

Women's Dermatologic Society Women's Shelter Initiative Program Impact

EMPOWERING COMMUNITIES THROUGH SKIN HEALTH EDUCATION

The Women Dermatologic Society (WDS)'s Women's Shelter Initiative brings compassionate dermatologic care and education to those in need. Through accessible programming done with WDS Community Service & Public Education Committee member-developed presentations on 22 diverse topics, and volunteer engagement, the initiative addresses health disparities and fosters confidence and self-care.

"Community-based education can improve knowledge, increase confidence in self-care, and encourage engagement with dermatologic services."

— Li, C. (2025), WDS Annual Forum

THE NEED

- 650,000+ individuals experiencing homelessness on a single night in 2023
- Skin conditions like infections, inflammation, and cancers are more common among this population
- Access to dermatologic care is often limited by systemic barriers
